

Latisha O'Neal, Esq.

Latisha O'Neal is a senior trial attorney at Allstate and has a civil litigation practice that focuses primarily on the defense of bodily injuries and property damage claims. Prior to joining Allstate, she was an Associate at Phillips, Spallas, & Angstadt, where she was responsible for defending claims related to premise and product liability for a Fortune 1 company. Latisha graduated Cum Laude with her Juris Doctorate degree from Southern University Law. She also holds a master's degree in Information System Management. While in law school, Latisha was a member of Women in Law, where she served as Public Relations Director. She also worked as a student attorney in the Technology and Entrepreneurship Law Clinic, externed for the Louisiana Supreme Court and interned at the Smithsonian in Washington D.C. Latisha earned Pro Bono Highest honors for her commitment to community service. She is an active supporter of local community efforts and enjoys volunteering her time to Legal Aid Center of Southern Nevada's pro bono initiative as a Child Advocacy Project volunteer, where she represents abused and neglected children. Prior to becoming an attorney, Latisha was a software/web developer for over ten years and owned several businesses. She is admitted to practice in all Nevada state courts as well as the United States District Court for the State of Nevada. In her spare time, she enjoys spending time with her family, reading, and traveling abroad.